LEGAL, FINANCES AND ASSETS

There are many myths circulating about the amount of child maintenance you are likely to pay or receive, and how your combined assets and property will be divided. You will hear many stories of other separations, but not all the facts.

Never assume, that, because your partner left you, you will receive more money or assets at settlement, or, if you have children, you will gain full custody rights. Every separation situation is different and you must seek legal advice immediately.

Have you?

Checked if you are eligible for a:

- Centrelink Benefit
(eg Health Care Card)

Made an appointment with your:

- Your Mediator
- Free Legal Service or Solicitor

Created a list of assets? Include:

- Property
- Vehicles
- Caravan, boat, motorbike
- Bank accounts
- Furniture
- TV, fridge, washing machine
- Other household appliances

Have you?

Informed:

- Your bank
- Estate Agent (if renting)
- Your child's school
- Pre-school
- Child Support Agency

Changed your:

- Joint Account Bank details
- Will or Power of Attorney
- Insurance Policies
- Superannuation details

Changed the account holder's name:

- Phone Account
- Mobile Phone Account
- Power bills
- Gas bills
- Water bills
- Toll Road Account
- Car registration with Vicroads

Created a household budget?

- Weekly spend
- Fortnightly spend
- Annual spend

Before your bills get on top of you...

It may be a good idea to set up a payment plan or arrange to have payments come directly out of your Centrelink payment.

- Set up a bill payment plan through Centrepay or Easyway
- Set up a bill payment plan through your utility company
- Organise temporary changes to mortgage repayments
- Organise temporary changes to car loan repayments

If you urgently need to purchase another car have you considered:

- Running costs
- Repayments
- Repairs
- Whether it is suitable to take out your children? (eg. Utility or tray truck)
